

PRODUCT WARNING AND RECALL NOTICE

KENT CARTRIDGE® 12 Gauge and 20 Gauge Shotgun Ammunition

STOP USE IMMEDIATELY IF BOTH THE PRODUCT CODE AND CORRESPONDING LOT NUMBER MATCH THIS NOTICE.

Kent Cartridge is recalling specific product code and lot number combinations of 12 gauge and 20 gauge shotgun ammunition. Use the identification steps below to determine whether your ammunition is affected.

Reason for the recall. Kent Cartridge has determined the affected ammunition may exhibit excessive chamber pressure when the cartridge is fired. Excessive chamber pressure may damage the firearm, render it inoperable, and expose the shooter and bystanders to a risk of serious personal injury.

HOW TO IDENTIFY AFFECTED AMMUNITION

1	Check the Product Code first. If it is not listed in the table above, the ammunition is not included in this recall.
2	If the Product Code is listed, compare the Lot Number on the box label with the Lot Number(s) shown on the same row.

WHERE TO FIND THE IDENTIFYING NUMBERS

Use the box label to locate both the Product Code and Lot Number.

NEXT STEPS

If your ammunition matches both an affected Product Code and corresponding Lot Number listed above:

- Immediately discontinue use of the affected ammunition.
- Segregate it from ammunition that is not subject to this recall.
- Do not sell, distribute, or transfer affected ammunition to another person.
- Contact Kent Cartridge using the information below for return and replacement instructions.

Kent Cartridge will make all arrangements necessary for the return of affected product and will provide information regarding replacement product and/or reimbursement options, as applicable.
